

New centre to serve private students

PRIVATE students have a new service centre to hear their complaints.

The Council for Private Education has set up the Student Services Centre at the YMCA building on Orchard Road.

Under the Private Education Bill, private schools are required to give key details about their courses, teaching staff and fees. Such information will be available via the centre.

It will also act as the public's first point of contact in complaints. And should a private school close, the centre will also handle student queries and update them on how to get fee refunds and course transfers.
